Attendance and Participation: Attendance is mandatory. As a courtesy to all, please turn off cell phones or place on vibrations. (AVOID texting during class or responding to calls and leaving room). If you are late, please remain outside the classroom and wait for a pause in lecture or class activity to minimize disruption to the class. If you have a special situation, please don't hesitate to talk to me about it. You are responsible for dropping the class through the Admissions Office Online. Please be disciplined about your education and attend consistently. Attendance quizzes incorporating reading, lecture and relevant current events may be used periodically.

Students are also expected to follow relevant current events. Ways to do so include following a daily newspaper, for instance the Los Angeles Times, a weekly news magazine, like Time, The Economist or Newsweek; watching a TV news program covering domestic political news such as "Newshour with Jim Lehrer" at 6 p.m. and BBC News at 5 p.m. and 11 p.m. on KCET Channel 28; and finally, listening to public radio on 89.3 FM or 89.9 FM. You can also have access to most of these papers, magazines, and news programs on the internet.

Late Assignments and Incomplete Grade: Late assignments are permitted only for religious, medical or college businesses. I reserve the right to drop the student to for in cases of excessive absences, and/or incompleteness of assignments. It is your responsibility to drop the course. Incomplete Grade requests must meet the LAMC standards for approval.

Extra-Credit—Optional Internship: Students may select to do internship with a political official or a candidate of their choice. LAMC does not favor, promote, nor endorse one political office/official/candidate over another. If you decide opt for this assignment, you are required to write a three-page reflection paper explaining your internship and how this experience has helped you understand the political process better.

Cheating: Unauthorized material used during an examination (including electronic devices), changing answers after work has been graded, taking an exam for another student, forging or altering attendance sheets or other documents in the course, looking at another student's paper/scantron/essay/computer or exam with or without their approval is considered cheating. Any student caught cheating will receive a zero for the assignment/exam and referred to the Department chair and/or Student Services for further disciplinary action.

Plagiarism: Plagiarism is defined as the act of using ideas, words, or work of another person or persons as if they were one's own, without giving proper credit to the original sources. This includes definitions found online on Wikipedia, materials from blogs, twitter, or other similar electronic resources. The following examples are intended to be representative, but not all inclusive:

- failing to give credit by proper citations for others ideas and concepts, data and information, statements and phrases, and/or interpretations and conclusions.
- failing to use quotation marks when quoting directly from another, whether it be a paragraph, a sentence, or a part thereof

- Paraphrasing the expressions or thought by others without appropriate quotation marks or attribution

- Representing another's artistic/scholarly works such as essays, computer programs, photographs, paintings, drawings, sculptures or similar works as one's own. First offense, you will receive a zero for the assignment in question. Any further offenses may result in expulsion from the class, as determined by the disciplinary action from the Office of Student Services.

Recording Devices in the Classroom: Section 78907 of the California Education Code prohibits the use of any electronic audio or video recording devices, without prior consent of the instructor (including cell phones, laptops, MP3 players, and more).

Reasonable Accommodations: If you are a student with a disability and require accommodations, please send me a private email. The sooner I am aware of your eligibility for accommodations, the quicker I will be able to assist the DSP&S Office in providing them. For students requiring accommodations, the DSP&S Office at Mission College provides special assistance in areas like: registering for courses, specialized tutoring, note-taking, mobility assistance, special instruction, testing assistance, special equipment, special materials, instructor liaisons, community referrals and job placement. If you have not done so already, you may also wish to contact the DSP&S Office in Instructional Building 1018 (Phone: (818) 364-7732 TTD: (818) 364-7861), and bring a letter stating the accommodations that are needed.
